

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

Method and apparatus suitable for use within a television receiver for storing program guide information, wherein a scan list identifies a plurality of channels available for viewing, channels not included within the scan list
5 have corresponding program guide data deleted from a program guide database. The program guide database may be arranged as a plurality of objects including channel objects, schedule objects, and program objects.

20090701 03025001